

ACS: NEW CERTIFICATION FOR CONSTANT FLOW VALVES, SYSTEM MARIC
(ACS: Attestation de Conformité Sanitaire)

Bertfelt Teknik AB, a leading company specialized in the design, manufacturing and marketing of constant flow valves for water announces the obtention of a new certificate for its product range: ACS, Attestation de Conformité Sanitaire.

The "Attestation de conformité sanitaire" (ACS) is the French potable water certification which demonstrates the suitability of products that will come into contact with water intended for human consumption.

Thanks to this approval, Bertfelt Teknik can supply its high quality constant flow valves, System Maric for potable water application.

Agne Bogren, CEO of the company said: "It is with great pride that we announce that from now on we can sell our range of constant flow valves also for potable water application requiring ACS. We have always strived to meet the requirements of our customers. The obtention of this new certification is definitively a confirmation of the quality of our products and the professionalism of our company. ACS reinforces our leadership as a supplier of constant flow valves for professional use and makes it possible to serve new customer segments."
